I. Course Description:

This course will guide students through several teaching strategies for the English classroom. The content will include strategies implemented using no technology, low technology, and high technology. “No Technology” strategies involve activities and approaches that are hands-on and involve little to no technology available to students and teachers. “Low Technology” strategies will consist of activities for classrooms with access to only one or two devices. “High Technology” will involve strategies in which access to classroom sets of devices is more readily available.
